ECOSYSTEM SERVICES & TRIBAL WELL-BEING – PROGRAM GOALS:

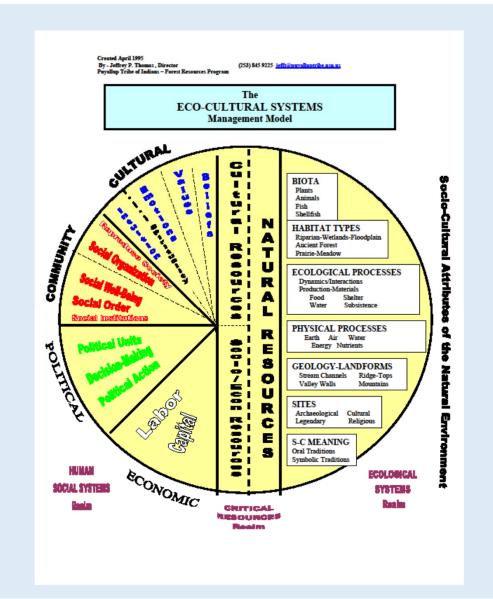

NEED TO ENSURE:

- Tribal members can access Reservation resources.
- Tribal members are not marginalized from Reservation planning and policy development.
- Historically important cultural landscapes and/or culturally significant species are suitably maintained.
- Local science incorporates Puyallup tribal values.
- Puyallup tribal knowledge and scientific knowledge are integrated with science and economical views.
- Explanations of how Reservation biophysical processes should be viewed as having value are accommodated.
- Ecological identity and identification with nature are continuously highlighted.
- Facets of tribal well-being that are directly related to the condition of the natural environment are highlighted. AND
- Puyallup tribal well-being receives attention during Reservation decisions.
