

ISC 2025

XX INTERNATIONAL SILAGE CONFERENCE

July 21-24, 2025

Gainesville, Florida USA

The XX International Silage Conference (ISC) planning committee invites you to join us in Gainesville, FL USA!

The ISC is a global platform for sharing and exchanging breakthrough research in areas of forage conservation. Since its inception, it has emphasized the pivotal role of silage in small ruminant, beef, and dairy cow rations, provided unique insights on a wide range of complementary topics including forage agronomy, optimal conservation strategies, silage feeding and nutrition, silage safety, etc. XX ISC will feature the latest science and technology in silage making from the U.S. and other countries around the world and give attendees first-hand experience of the challenges, benefits and intricacies of tropical/subtropical silage making.
